Communism Not Favored In Japan

GEN. M'ARTHUR DELEGATE GIVES U. S. FEELING

Russian Representative Told
Communism Not Favored
At Home Or Abroad

TOKYO, May 15—Soviet Russia's delegate to the four-power control council was informed today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's personal representative that the United States does not favor Communism—either at home or in Japan.

George Atcheson, Jr., MacArthur's council spokesman, emphasized, however, that the Communist party enjoyed the same rights in Japan as other political groups.

Council members were discussing an anonymous note protesting various allied policies when Atcheson looked straight across the table at Lt. Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko and said:

"It seems to me patent that it (the note) constitutes essentially an attack upon the present Japanese government. As that government has resigned, and is carrying on only pending formation of a new government, the attack seems pointless and the document accordingly seems merely to be an attempt to spread Communist propaganda."

"I don't need to tell you," he said, "that the United States does not favor Communism—either in the United States nor Japan."

Atcheson said he believed the control council should direct its activities toward the democratization of Japan.

"It is not consistent with our clear duty in that respect for any council member to give support in public meetings of the council—or otherwise—to any one Japanese political party," he declared.

Atcheson said translators had informed him the letter in question had been written by persons other than Japanese, and that it had not been signed with a "chop" in accordance with Japanese custom.

Derevyanko suggested earlier that former Japanese army officers might be creating an underground organization while they are working on cooperative farms, which once were airfields.

He said the Japanese could possibly be receiving orders from some central headquarters interested in perpetuating Japanese militarism.

American intelligence officers, however, said their investigations had revealed no such underground movement, and that all former Japanese officers were being watched closely.

W. MacMahon Ball, British council member, said the ex-officers were "having a tough time getting jobs," and that they "must be considered a potential threat."

Derevyanko charged also that MacArthur was failing to carry out terms of the Moscow conference by his refusal to give the control council more than 48 hours advance notice on his directives.

B-29 SETS NEW ALTITUDE MARK OF 44,200 FEET

TOKYO, May 15—An Army B-29 Superfortress took off from Guam Monday and rose to a new world record altitude of 44,200 feet with a payload of 4,400 pounds, it was disclosed today.

The flight marked the fourth in a series of six altitude breaking attempts under the "Marathon" project of the Pacific air command. Two more flights will be held in the near future.

Farm State Senators Charge Wheat Seizure 'Dictatorial'

WASHINGTON, May 15—Two farm state Republican senators charged angrily today that government plans to requisition 25 per cent of all 1946 wheat marketed smack of "dictatorship" and "totalitarianism."

Their charges were hurled as the house agriculture committee announced it would open an investigation tomorrow into the entire domestic and international food situation to find out "just who is calling the shots on our country's food policies."

The government's wheat requisition plan was assailed by Sen. Clyde M. Reed, R., Kans., junior senator from the nation's largest wheat-producing state, as "the way of dictators in totalitarian states."

"This drastic and far-reaching order was made without consulting either the producers, the grain trade or the millers," he said.

Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry, Neb., Republican whip, said the government's action was "dictatorial" and should "convince us we are in the hands of totalitarianism." He said Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson had "gone squarely against a promise" not to requisition wheat.

Under the program, a farmer delivering wheat to a country elevator would be required to sell at least half of it outright instead of permitting the elevator to store it for him.

The elevator operator, in turn, would have to sell the government half of his wheat purchase. The result would be that the government would get 25 per cent of all 1946 wheat marketed. There would be nothing to make the farmer sell the rest of this wheat.

Chairman Chester C. Davis of President Truman's famine emergency committee praised the plan. "I think it's a splendid thing that the department is out in advance with a program for the 1946 crop," he said at a news conference.

He said former President Herbert Hoover also favored the idea of taking the wheat at its source and then conditioning the nation to get along on what is left.

Some house agriculture committee members were apprehensive over the reaction of farmers. Rep. August H. Andresen, R., Minn., believed "the reaction throughout the country will be bad."

Rationing Of Meat Seen Before Long

WASHINGTON, May 15—Chairman Chester C. Davis of President Truman's famine emergency committee believes the government should start thinking about the possibility that it will have to ration meat some time in the future.

Following a meeting of the committee with former president Herbert Hoover yesterday, Davis told a news conference that he wasn't too concerned about possible bread rationing. But he said he thought the meat situation should be given some consideration.

He pointed out that the increase in grain ceiling prices would make it more profitable for farmers to sell their grain for human food instead of livestock feed. He said this means that eventually there probably will be a shortage of meat.

"I don't think the need for rationing would break out in the grain field," Davis said, "but if I were running things, I'd want to study the possibility of the need for meat rationing some time in the future."

Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles already has said he would ask Mr. Truman to resume rationing of meat unless the food picture clears up within the next 60 days or so. He said dairy products and bread also were ration "possibilities."

TEEN-AGE BOYS GET REPRIEVE

'Unsatisfactory' Draft Bill
Exempts Youths Under 20 And Fathers

WASHINGTON, May 15—Teen-age boys, prime source of new military manpower, today received a 45-day draft reprieve in stopgap legislation extending the selective service act until July 1.

The senate passed the house-approved extension bill less than six hours before selective service was scheduled to expire last midnight. It was a weak, watered-down version of America's formerly two-tisted draft law.

The senate was not satisfied, and neither was President Truman when he signed the bill into law. But it was the strongest measure that the house would pass.

It exempts teen-agers and fathers from the draft. Selective service director Lewis B. Hershey flashed word to local draft boards.

SOLONS PROBE CHARGES WAA FAVORS DEALERS

WASHINGTON, May 15—The senate war investigating committee today tries to find out whether the war assets administration is letting favored dealers get an advance peek at inventory lists of fast-selling surpluses.

Chairman James M. Mead, D., N. Y., told a reporter the committee intends to go into the matter thoroughly during a hearing on a recent sale of 600 surplus Army trucks by Gimbel's, a New York department store.

The "secret lists" charge was raised yesterday by Rep. James G. Fulton, R., Pa., who said WAA in the Pittsburgh area was withholding inventory reports from the general public but letting "the dealers they want see them."

Some Solons Would Delay Labor Laws

WASHINGTON, May 15—A group of pro-labor senators today sought to avert adoption of rigid anti-strike legislation by proposing a time-consuming investigation of causes of current labor unrest.

The plan centered on a resolution introduced Feb. 8 by Sen. Harley M. Kilgore, D., W. Va., which would authorize such an inquiry by the senate labor committee.

Chairman James E. Murray, D., Mont., called his labor committee into special session today to consider the Kilgore resolution. He expected prompt committee approval and said he would seek similarly speedy action from the full senate.

Although the Kilgore resolution would not necessarily displace pending labor legislation on the senate floor, it would give pro-labor forces a strong argument to defer action on any drastic labor bills until the investigation was completed.

It was in line with the arguments of Murray and his associates that the senate cannot act wisely on the pending anti-strike proposals without full facts.

Murray called today's meeting after a closed-door meeting late yesterday with 15 other senators generally favorable to labor. Senator James Huffman, D., Ohio, was in the group.

BANKERS HEAR WARNING ON BIG LOANS ON FARMS

COLUMBUS, O., May 15—Warren Garst of the Home State Bank, Jefferson, Ia., today advocated caution and a look at what would be a reasonable return on the investment in more settled times in the consideration of farm values.

Garst, speaking at the 55th convention of the Ohio Bankers association here, criticized the banker and farmer who look carefully at farm buildings and other current assets and pay no attention to enriching and conserving the soil, the basic asset.

"The red lantern of danger must be observed by the banker who is tempted to make loans on real estate market values alone, without regard for the earning power of land," he said. "And the same thing goes for the man who would borrow for real estate purposes."

Speakers at a dinner session tonight will include Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Maj. Gen. Clovis E. Byers, chief of staff of the 8th army, and Louis Bromfield, author-farmer of Richland county.

Brig. Gen. Leonard Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co., will discuss the national debt at the closing session tomorrow. M. S. Szymczak, Washington, a member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve bank, also will speak on foreign lending.

Several Pickaway County bankers are attending sessions of the convention.

BYRNES OFFERS NEW PROPOSAL

Preliminary German Peace
Treaty Study Suggested
To Big 4 Ministers

PARIS, May 15—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes recommended today that the big four foreign ministers set up a special deputy committee to draft a preliminary German peace treaty to be presented to a second peace conference he proposed for Nov. 12.

Byrnes redoubled his efforts toward an early peace treaty with Germany at a three-hour meeting of the foreign ministers. At the same time he sought better coordination of allied occupation policies.

He suggested that a special ministerial commission examine the whole question of Germany with a prime objective of abolishing the economic barriers between the occupation zones.

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia said he wanted time to study both Byrnes proposals. Ernest Bevin of Britain and Georges Bidault of France followed his lead with similar expressions.

Byrnes did not refer to his recent proposal for a 25-year disarmament of Germany. And the ministers did not mention his proposal.

PROBATE JUDGE WARNS PARENTS MAY BE CHARGED

Sharply criticizing parents who fail to exercise proper control over minor children Judge Sterling M. Lamb sounded a warning Wednesday that such parents face possible penalties for their laxity.

The warning followed a hearing in the Pickaway County juvenile court during which it was disclosed that two Circleville girls, aged 11 and 12 years had remained in a park all night and that the parents had failed to report their absence from home to the proper authorities.

Judge Lamb sentenced the 12-year-old to the Girl's Industrial School, Delaware, and then suspended the sentence and ordered the girl released under two years probation. The younger girl was released with a severe reprimand. Police had taken the girls into custody Tuesday morning on Pleasant street.

Two other girls, aged 15 and 13, who had been arrested by police in Western avenue for fighting, were reprimanded by Judge Lamb and then ordered released.

WELFARE FUND PLAN REJECTED BY OPERATORS

Railroad Discussions Resume
After President Steps
Into Strike Issue

JURY TO PROBE UNION

Investigation Ordered In
Detroit; Congress Works
On Labor Laws

Coal negotiations were forced into a new deadlock today, but collective bargaining was resumed in the rail dispute.

Soft coal operators "unequivocally" rejected demands by United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis for a $70,000,000 health and welfare fund, company financed and union administered. They said the plan constituted "double taxation on the industry for social welfare, for which it is now paying approximately 10 cents per ton."

The decision ended whatever small hope there was that the miners and operators could reach an agreement today, as President Truman has requested.

The railroad discussions were renewed after President Truman intervened personally in an attempt to head off a nationwide strike of 250,000 engineers and trainmen, scheduled for Saturday. "We have made progress," a management spokesman told newsmen after preliminary talks were recessed shortly before midnight last night.

In other major labor developments:

Rival unionists at the Phelps-Dodge plant at Fort Wayne Ind., arrived at a temporary agreement whereby striking CIO members agreed to permit AFL workers to continue construction work at the strikebound plant.

A grand jury investigation was ordered into an AFL teamsters' drive to force 6,000 Detroit meat and grocery retailers to join the union.

The powerful CIO longshoremen's union went into executive session to decide whether to accept a recommended 22-cent hourly raise for 20,000 west coast dockworkers.

The Los Angeles transit strike moved into its 12th day with no signs of settlement.

While operator and union officials wrangled over contract issues, most of the 400,000 miners returned to the pits under the truce arrangement. UMW representatives were exerting pressure on about 52,000 holdouts in the Pennsylvania soft coal fields to obey the back-to-work order.

Industry sources were outspoken in their opposition to Lewis' terms for a union welfare fund, to be financed by an industry contribution of seven per cent of its gross payrolls. Lewis was reported to have said that union wage demands would depend in part on the industry's answer to the welfare proposal.

Meanwhile, both houses of congress

PAULEY PLANS TO STUDY KOREA IN SOVIET ZONE

TOKYO, May 15—Edwin C. Pauley, U. S. member of the allied reparations commission, said today he will try to enter Soviet-occupied northern Korea to assess Japanese assets for reparations regardless of possible Soviet opposition.

Pauley said he will leave tomorrow on a special plane for Moscow.

He disclosed Moscow was notified that he would enter the Russian zone of Korea, and said he presumed the Russians would extend to him the same courtesies and facilities that they have been extended in American-occupied south Korea.

American military officers from the staff of Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, American commander in Korea, probably will accompany Pauley on his trip to the Russian zone, he said.

Pauley said he did not know how long he would remain in Korea, but added he hoped to stay long enough to determine what Japanese assets are in north Korea and whether any have been removed.

"The red lantern of danger must be observed by the banker who is tempted to make loans on real estate market values alone, without regard for the earning power of land," he said. "And the same thing goes for the man who would borrow for real estate purposes."

Speakers at a dinner session tonight will include Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Maj. Gen. Clovis E. Byers, chief of staff of the 8th army, and Louis Bromfield, author-farmer of Richland county.

Brig. Gen. Leonard Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co., will discuss the national debt at the closing session tomorrow. M. S. Szymczak, Washington, a member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve bank, also will speak on foreign lending.

Several Pickaway County bankers are attending sessions of the convention.

BYRNES OFFERS
NEW PROPOSALPreliminary German Peace
Treaty Study Suggested
To Big 4 Ministers

PARIS, May 15—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes recommended today that the big four foreign ministers set up a special deputy committee to draft a preliminary German peace treaty to be presented to a second peace conference he proposed for Nov. 12.

Byrnes redoubled his efforts toward an early peace treaty with Germany at a three-hour meeting of the foreign ministers. At the same time he sought better coordination of allied occupation policies.

He suggested that a special ministerial commission examine the whole question of Germany with a prime objective of abolishing the economic barriers between the occupation zones.

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia said he wanted time to study both Byrnes proposals. Ernest Bevin of Britain and Georges Bidault of France followed his lead with similar expressions.

Byrnes did not refer to his recent proposal for a 25-year disarmament of Germany. And the ministers did not mention his proposal (Continued on Page Two)

PROBATE JUDGE
WARNS PARENTS
MAY BE CHARGED

Sharply criticizing parents who fail to exercise proper control over minor children Judge Sterling M. Lamb sounded a warning Wednesday that such parents face possible penalties for their laxity.

The warning followed a hearing in the Pickaway County juvenile court during which it was disclosed that two Circleville girls, aged 11 and 12 years had remained in a park all night and that the parents had failed to report their absence from home to the proper authorities.

Judge Lamb sentenced the 12-year-old to the Girl's Industrial School, Delaware, and then suspended the sentence and ordered the girl released under two years probation. The younger girl was released with a severe reprimand. Police had taken the girls into custody Tuesday morning on Pleasant street.

Two other girls, aged 15 and 13, who had been arrested by police in Western avenue for fighting, were reprimanded by Judge Lamb and then ordered released.

JURY TO PROBE UNION

Investigation Ordered In
Detroit; Congress Works
On Labor Laws

Coal negotiations were forced into a new deadlock today, but collective bargaining was resumed in the rail dispute.

Soft coal operators "unequivocally" rejected demands by United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis for a $70,000,000 health and welfare fund, company financed and union administered. They said the plan constituted "double taxation on the industry for social welfare, for which it is now paying approximately 10 cents per ton."

The decision ended whatever small hope there was that the miners and operators could reach an agreement today, as President Truman has requested.

The railroad discussions were renewed after President Truman intervened personally in an attempt to head off a nationwide strike of 250,000 engineers and trainmen, scheduled for Saturday.

"We have made progress," a management spokesman told newsmen after preliminary talks were recessed shortly before midnight last night.

In other major labor developments:

Rival unionists at the Phelps-Dodge plant at Fort Wayne Ind., arrived at a temporary agreement whereby striking CIO members agreed to permit AFL workers to continue construction work at the strikebound plant.

A grand jury investigation was ordered into an AFL teamsters' drive to force 6,000 Detroit meat and grocery retailers to join the union.

The powerful CIO longshoremen's union went into executive session to decide whether to accept a recommended 22-cent hourly raise for 20,000 west coast dockworkers.

The Los Angeles transit strike moved into its 12th day with no signs of settlement.

While operator and union officials wrangled over contract issues, most of the 400,000 miners returned to the pits under the truce arrangement. UMW representatives were exerting pressure on about 52,000 holdouts in the Pennsylvania soft coal fields to obey the back-to-work order.

Industry sources were outspoken in their opposition to Lewis' terms for a union welfare fund, to be financed by an industry contribution of seven per cent of its gross payrolls. Lewis was reported to have said that union wage demands would depend in part on the industry's answer to the welfare proposal.

Meanwhile, both houses of con-

PAULEY PLANS TO STUDY KOREA
IN SOVIET ZONE

TOKYO, May 15—Edwin C. Pauley, U. S. member of the allied reparations commission, said today he will try to enter Soviet-occupied northern Korea to assess Japanese assets for reparations regardless of possible Soviet opposition.

Pauley said he will leave tomorrow on a special plane for Korea.

He disclosed Moscow was notified that he would enter the Russian zone of Korea, and said he presumed the Russians would extend to him the same courtesies and facilities that they have been extended in American-occupied south Korea.

American military officers from the staff of Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, American commander in Korea, probably will accompany Pauley on his trip to the Russian zone, he said.

Pauley said he did not know how long he would remain in Korea, but added he hoped to stay long enough to determine what Japanese assets are in north Korea and whether any have been removed.

grew moved swiftly toward a showdown on labor legislation aimed at curbing Lewis and outlawing his principal demand.

A house judiciary subcommittee approved a bill which would forbid union collections from employers, and Sen. Harry P. Byrd, D., Va., introduced an almost identical proposal as an amendment to a pending labor bill.

Representatives of the railroads and the brotherhoods resumed negotiations last night after Mr. Truman called both sides to the White House for separate conferences in which he stressed that a tie-up of the transportation system must be avoided.

Carrier representatives met separately with the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which are scheduled to strike Saturday, and with officials of three other operating unions which have threatened strikes next month.

U. S., BRITISH PUT PRESSURE ON POLAND NOW

Great Britain and the United States today were bringing diplomatic pressure on Poland to bring her policies closer in line with the views of the foreign office and state department.

The United States was holding up activation of the $90,000,000 loan to Poland and deliveries of surplus material to Poland until Warsaw completes action on conditions attached to the fiscal aid.

The conditions were: publication in Poland of the pledge of free elections, freedom from censorship for American correspondents covering the election, comprehensive information on Poland's international economic arrangements.

The last condition has not yet been fulfilled and the state department said the loan would be held up until it is.

The British foreign office was reported to be considering withdrawal of recognition of the Polish government if what it regards as a policy of persecution of the Polish peasant party led by Vice-Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk continues.

STATE WORKERS WANT SALARIES INCREASED NOW

COLUMBUS, May 15—State civil service employees today moved to meet the increased cost of living by requesting the Ohio civil service employees association to urge Gov. Frank J. Lausche to call the legislature to raise hourly wages at least 18½ cents.

A resolution signed by 2,000 civil service employees of the Franklin chapter of the employees association requested the executive board of the state organization to petition the governor to call a special session.

In addition to the hourly increase, the resolution called for a $35 monthly increase for all employees paid on an annual rate scale.

WOMAN MARRIED 25 YEARS FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Married for 25 years and the mother of eight children, Mrs. Josephine Cooper Evans filed suit for divorce in Pickaway county common pleas court, Tuesday, accusing Boyd Evans, also known as Clarence Cooper, of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty.

Declaring that they were married April 16, 1921, Mrs. Evans claims that her husband repeatedly struck her, that he mistreated the children, and that because of fear of him three of the children aged 6, 10, and 12 years, slept the nights of Dec. 10 and 11 in a hog house on the Evans 53-acre farm in Perry township.

In addition to a divorce Mrs. Evans asks for alimony, the custody of four minor children, Marilyn F. 3, Paul R. 6, George C. 10, and Marvinine, 12, and possession of the real estate.

The First National Bank, Circleville, was named a defendant in the suit. Judge Emmitt L. Crist granted a temporary injunction restraining Mrs. Evans from interfering with Mrs. Evans or the children and restraining the First National Bank from permitting Evans to withdraw funds during the pendency of the suit.

AMOS IS BOUND OVER ON NON-SUPPORT CHARGES

William Amos, 43, formerly of Circleville and more recently a Columbus resident, was in the Pickaway county jail, Wednesday, in default of $2,000 bond awaiting grand jury action on a non-support charge.

Amos, a painter and tree remover, was arrested Tuesday night in Columbus by Police Chief William F. McCrady and Patrolman Turney Ross who removed the prisoner to Circleville. He pleaded not guilty before Mayor Ben H. Gordon and was ordered held for the grand jury. Chief McCrady said Amos had been sought for several months.

to stop inductions of youths who have not yet reached their 20th birthday.

Secretary of war Robert P. Patterson said the action means the Army probably will be forced to keep previously-drafted youths in service two years instead of only 18 months as now planned.

The senate, faced with the expiration deadline, was forced to accept the house amendments exempting teen-agers and fathers. But the weakened extension bill at least preserved the bare draft machinery and provisions for veterans reemployment rights, presidential seizure of strike bound industries and government control of conscientious objectors.

The war department and selective service officials said the exemptions would prevent the Army from reaching its goals of 1,550,000 men by next July 1, and 1,070,000 by July 1, 1947.

Hershey ordered draft boards to continue filling their calls for men from the age group of 20 through 25 although legislation permits inductions of men 20 through 29 years old. The 20-25 group would yield a pool of only 59,600 eligibles.

TWO CINCINNATI WIVES FILE SUITS FOR DIVORCE

Two Cincinnati wives seek divorces in suits filed Wednesday in the office of Clerk of Courts Arthur Wilder.

Mrs. Louise E. Brannon accuses Daniel B. Brannon of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. Her petition, which contains no details of the charges, says they were married Jan. 2, 1932, in Circleville.

Mrs. Brannon also asks for alimony and the custody of five minor children, Lloyd E. 13, William L. 10, Phyllis Ann, seven, Patricia Ann, four, and Donald R., one. Judge Emmitt L. Crist granted a temporary injunction restraining Brannon from molesting her during the pendency of the suit.

Mrs. Greta Lutz charges Freeman Lutz, Jr., 208 West Ohio street, with gross neglect of duty. Reciting that they were married Aug. 16, 1944, and that they are childless, Mrs. Lutz claims her husband has failed to provide her with necessities of life and that she has been compelled to seek employment. She also asks restoration of her maiden name, Greta Rowland.

Mr. and Mrs. Loring Hulse, Route 4, Circleville, are the parents of a daughter, born at 10:42 a. m. Monday in Berger hospital.

CHINESE REDS CUT RAIL LINE IN MANCHURIA

MUKDEN, May 15—A force of 10,000 to 20,000 Communist troops was reported today to have cut the Tientsin-Mukden railroad—lifeline of nationalist forces in Manchuria—at two points outside the great wall northeast of Shanghai.

The report came as semi-official Russian sources disclosed that Soviet troops have completely withdrawn from Manchuria, except for Port Arthur where they remain under terms of the Russo-Chinese treaty.

The Communist forces, according to Nationalist sources, encircled the rail towns of Chien-suo and Kaoling, 15 and 25 miles northeast of the great wall, and have succeeded in cutting off rail service on the vital supply route.

Two rail bridges between Chien-suo and Kaoling were blown up, it was reported.

PRESBYTERIAN, EPISCOPALIAN UNION FAVORED

COLUMBUS, O., May 15—Delegates to the 72nd annual convention of the southern Ohio diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church today were on record as favoring a union of the Episcopal and Presbyterian churches.

The convention yesterday adopted a resolution expressing hope for "definite forward action... leading to organic union" of the two churches at the general convention of the Episcopal church in Philadelphia next September.

The resolution was adopted soon after Bishop Henry W. Hobson, Cincinnati, head of the southern Ohio diocese, urged further action on unification of the two churches. The merger was first proposed in 1937.

The convention ends this afternoon.

posal of yesterday that the council adjourn until June 15, preliminary to the first peace conference he has proposed for July.

He urged that no delay be brooked in drawing up the German peace treaty. He said it was important not only for Germany but also for the allies.

Until the allies devise a definite policy for all of Germany, he argued, any separate plans will be difficult and complicated.

He suggested that a special committee of deputies get down to work at once on the German treaty, making interim progress reports to the ministers with a goal of the council presenting a tangible treaty to a 21-nation peace conference Nov. 12.

That conference, he said, should in no way interfere with the first peace conference which he wanted called for July 1 or 15, at which treaties with Italy, the Balkan countries, Finland and Austria would be taken up.

He said the German economic questions should be examined by deputies immediately. The matter is urgent, he said, because unless the Potsdam agreement can be put into effect, combining Germany into an economic entity, chaos will result in the American zone at least.

TRUCKER IS FINED

James B. Smith, 22, Columbus truck driver, was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in the Pickaway county jail by Judge Emmitt L. Crist in Common Pleas court, Wednesday, on a speeding charge. Smith was arrested on U. S. Route 23, north of Circleville, by State Highway Patrolman Charles W. Scott who said Smith drove 60 miles an hour.

STATE WORKERS
WANT SALARIES
INCREASED NOW

COLUMBUS, May 15.—State civil service employees today moved to meet the increased cost of living by requesting the Ohio civil service employees association to urge Gov. Frank J. Lausche to call the legislature to raise hourly wages at least 18 1/2 cents.
A resolution signed by 2,000 civil service employees of the Franklin chapter of the employees association requested the executive board of the state organization to petition the governor to call a special session.
In addition to the hourly increase, the resolution called for a $35 monthly increase for all employees paid on an annual rate scale.

WOMAN MARRIED 25 YEARS
FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Married for 25 years and the mother of eight children, Mrs. Josephine Cooper Evans filed suit for divorce in Pickaway county common pleas court, Tuesday, accusing Boyd Evans, also known as Clarence Cooper, of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty.
Declaring that they were married April 16, 1921, Mrs. Evans claims that her husband repeatedly struck her, that he mistreated the children, and that because of fear of him three of the children aged 6, 10, and 12 years, slept the nights of Dec. 10 and 11 in a hog house on the Evans 53-acre farm in Perry township.
In addition to a divorce Mrs. Evans asks for alimony, the custody of four minor children, Marilyn F., 3, Paul R., 6, George C., 10, and Marvin, 12, and possession of the real estate.
The First National Bank, Circleville, was named a defendant in the suit. Judge Emmitt L. Crist granted a temporary injunction restraining Evans from interfering with Mrs. Evans or the children and restraining the First National Bank from permitting Evans to withdraw funds during the pendency of the suit.

AMOS IS BOUND OVER ON NON-SUPPORT CHARGES

William Amos, 43, formerly of Circleville and more recently a Columbus resident, was in the Pickaway county jail, Wednesday, in default of $2,000 bond awaiting grand jury action on a non-support charge.
Amos, a painter and tree remover, was arrested Tuesday night in Columbus by Police Chief William F. McCrady and Patrolman Turner Ross who removed the prisoner to Circleville. He pleaded not guilty before Mayor Ben H. Gordon and was ordered held for the grand jury. Chief McCrady said Amos had been sought for several months.

Secretary of war Robert P. Patterson said the action means the Army probably will be forced to keep previously-drafted youths in service two years instead of only 18 months as now planned.
The senate, faced with the expiration deadline, was forced to accept the house amendments exempting teen-agers and fathers. But the weakened extension bill at least preserved the bare draft machinery and provisions for veterans reemployment rights, presidential seizure of strike bound industries and government control of conscientious objectors.
The war department and selective service officials said the exemptions would prevent the Army from reaching its goals of 1,550,000 men by next July 1, and 1,070,000 by July 1, 1947.
Hershey ordered draft boards to continue filling their calls for men from the age group of 20 through 25 although legislation permits inductions of men 20 through 29 years old. The 20-25 group would yield a pool of only 59,600 eligibles.

TWO CIRCLEVILLE WIVES
FILE SUITS FOR DIVORCE

Two Circleville wives seek divorces in suits filed Wednesday in the office of Clerk of Courts Arthur Wilder.
Mrs. Louise E. Brannon accuses Daniel B. Brannon of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. Her petition, which contains no details of the charges, says they were married Jan. 2, 1932, in Circleville. Mrs. Brannon also asks for alimony and the custody of five minor children, Liloyd B., 13, William L., 10, Phyllis Ann, seven, Patricia Ann, four, and Donald R., one. Judge Emmitt L. Crist granted a temporary injunction restraining Brannon from molesting her during the pendency of the suit.
Mrs. Greta Lutz charges Freeman Lutz, Jr., 208 West Ohio street, with gross neglect of duty. Reciting that they were married Aug. 16, 1944, and that they are childless, Mrs. Lutz claims her husband has failed to provide her with necessities of life and that she has been compelled to seek employment. She also asks restoration of her maiden name, Greta Rowland.

CHINESE REDS
CUT RAIL LINE
IN MANCHURIA

MUKDEN, May 15.—A force of 10,000 to 20,000 Communist troops was reported today to have cut the Tientsin-Mukden railroad—lifeline of nationalist forces in Manchuria—at two points outside the great wall northeast of Shanghai.
The report came as semi-official Russian sources disclosed that Soviet troops have completely withdrawn from Manchuria, except for Port Arthur where they remain under terms of the Russo-Chinese treaty.
The Communist forces, according to Nationalist sources, encircled the rail towns of Chiensuo and Kaoling, 15 and 25 miles northeast of the great wall, and have succeeded in cutting off rail service on the vital supply route.
Two rail bridges between Chiensuo and Kaoling were blown up, it was reported.

PRESBYTERIAN,
EPISCOPALIAN
UNION FAVORED

COLUMBUS, O., May 15.—Delegates to the 72nd annual convention of the southern Ohio diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church today were on record as favoring a union of the Episcopal and Presbyterian churches.
The convention yesterday adopted a resolution expressing hope for "definite forward action... leading to organic union" of the two churches at the general convention of the Episcopal church in Philadelphia next September.
The resolution was adopted soon after Bishop Henry W. Hobson, Cincinnati, head of the southern Ohio diocese, urged further action on unification of the two churches. The merger was first proposed in 1937.
The convention ends this afternoon.

BYRNES OFFERS
NEW PROPOSAL

posal of yesterday that the council adjourn until June 15, preliminary to the first peace conference he has proposed for July.
He urged that no delay be brooked in drawing up the German peace treaty. He said it was important not only for Germany but also for the allies.
Until the allies devise a definite policy for all of Germany, he argued, any separate plans will be difficult and complicated.
He suggested that a special committee of deputies get down to work at once on the German treaty, making interim progress reports to the ministers with a goal of the council presenting a tangible treaty to a 21-nation peace conference Nov. 12.
That conference, he said, should in no way interfere with the first peace conference which he wanted called for July 1 or 15, at which treaties with Italy, the Balkan countries, Finland and Austria would be taken up.
He said the German economic questions should be examined by deputies immediately. The matter is urgent, he said, because unless the Potsdam agreement can be put into effect, combining Germany into an economic entity, chaos will result in the American zone at least.

ASHVILLE MUSIC FESTIVAL BIG HIT WITH CROWD

Certificates Received For Students Ranking High In 8th Grade Tests

The annual Spring music festival presented Tuesday evening by the Ashville music department under the direction of Mrs. Melvin Kiger and Fred E. Brobst was well received by an appreciative audience.

Ellen Johnson and Mrs. Kiger accompanied the vocal numbers.

The following program was presented.

The mixed chorus: "Look for the Silver Lining," "Land of Hope and Glory," "Ole Man River."

The girls' ensemble: "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'," "Lovely To Look At," "Will You Remember," "Praise Ye the Lord."

Connie Johnson, baritone solo, "On the Road to Mandalay."

The band: march, "Brasserie Triumphant"; "Dancing Tambourine," "Choral," "Twin Stars," saxophone duet by Bill Speakman and Jack Irwin, march, "Salute to Peace," "Zigeuner," overture, "Americana," march, "Colors on Parade."

Tuesday the Ashville school received certificates from Ray G. Wood, director of Ohio scholarship tests, showing the places earned by local students in the final district-state scholarship tests, given at Ohio State University May 4, 1946. Certificates were awarded to the upper 25% in the central district and to the upper 10% in the state. The following Ashville pupils will receive certificates: June Litten, English 9, third in the district and 17th in the state; Carolyn Fudge, English 10, fifth in the district; Melvin Eisaman, general science, ninth in the district; and Jim Irwin, American history, 14th in the district.

Ashville's eighth grade won all the highest honors in the county in the state eighth year test given May 3 under the direction of the Ohio scholarship tests. The five highest scores in the county were made by Marilyn Bowers 184, Carolyn Courtwright 170, Charles Eversole 170, Louise Swingle 167, and Joanne Hinkle 166. Robert Schaub with 161 points and Herbert Pettibone with 160 ranked 10th and 11th in the county respectively. Thus Ashville had seven of the 11 highest scores. All of the above pupils will receive state certificates for placing in the upper 1% in the state, an honor shared by only four other county pupils. Besides the above pupils, the following placed in the upper 25% in the county and will receive county award certificates: Phyllis Pettibone, David Kraft, Ellen Hudson, William Grove, Faye Johnson, Doran Topolosky, Charles Harris, Dana Borror, Darrell Robbins, Robert Stough, Hattie Wheeler.

The program included the invocation by the Rev. F. A. Immelt, salutatory by Bill Neff, valedictory by Ray Anderson, and address by Mack Bauer.

The Ashville-Lockbourne Lutheran Brotherhood will meet Wednesday at 8:00 in the Lockbourne church. Members are urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Martin, of Indianapolis, Indiana, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brane, of Springfield, visited Tuesday with Ernest F. Martin and family.

MINGLE WRONG SHERIFF SAYS

Radcliff Contends Peace Officers Do Not Need To Wear Uniforms

As spokesman for law-enforcement officers in Pickaway county, Sheriff Charles Radcliff disputed, Wednesday, the statement made by Colonel George Mingle, superintendent of the State Highway Patrol, that constables and other officers of the law must wear uniforms in order to make lawful arrests for traffic law violations.

The warning sounded by Col. Mingle, which was published Monday in The Daily Herald, cautioned all "undressed" constables and law-enforcement officers that they must get into uniform and also must have distinguishing color or markings placed on their automobiles.

Sheriff Radcliff likewise disputed Col. Mingle's statement that peace officers not in uniform cannot make arrests legally and that their testimony is not valid at a trial following such an arrest. Col. Mingle's statement also said that traffic arrests are unlawful when the officer's car is not properly marked. He authorized all peace officers to display an insignia on each side and the rear of the car. Law-enforcement officers do not have to wear a uniform to make a lawful arrest, Sheriff Radcliff declared, and it is not necessary for them to have distinguishing markings on their cars.

Col. Mingle's statement was based on Section 12616 of the General Code of Ohio and the statement specifically excepted—in reference to the car markings—"sheriffs and municipal police who may designate their own" (markings).

Sheriff Radcliff asserted that while Col. Mingle, as head of the State Highway Patrol, has authority to issue orders to that group, he is not authorized to issue instructions to other law-enforcement officials.

New military mailing address of S/IC Glenn A. Pearce is U. S. S. Lake Champlain, CV-39, 2nd Division, Norfolk Group, 16th Fleet, Newport News, Va.

S/IC Leon Sims has returned to New York City, after spending an eight-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Sims, 540 East Mound street.

The theft occurred March 20. Pettit was a civilian employee at the Air Base, according to the district attorney's office.

ASHVILLE MUSIC FESTIVAL BIG 'HIT WITH CROWD'

Certificates Received For Students Ranking High In 8th Grade Tests

The annual Spring music festival presented Tuesday evening by the Ashville music department under the direction of Mrs. Melvin Kiger and Fred E. Brobst was well received by an appreciative audience.

Ellen Johnson and Mrs. Kiger accompanied the vocal numbers. The following program was presented.

The mixed chorus: "Look for the Silver Lining," "Land of Hope and Glory," "Ole Man River." The girl's ensemble: "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'," "Lovely To Look At," "Will You Remember," "Praise Ye the Lord."

Connie Johnson, baritone solo, "On the Road to Mandalay." The band: march, "Brass Triumphant"; "Dancing Tambourine"; "Choral," "Twin Stars," saxophone duet by Bill Speakman and Jack Irwin, march, "Salute to Peace," "Zigeuner," overture, "Americana," march, "Colors on Parade."

Tuesday the Ashville school received certificates from Ray G. Wood, director of Ohio scholarship tests, showing the places earned by local students in the final district-state scholarship tests, given at Ohio State University May 4, 1946. Certificates were awarded to the upper 25% in the central district and to the upper 10% in the state. The following Ashville pupils will receive certificates: June Litten, English 9, third in the district and 17th in the state; Carolyn Fudge, English 10, fifth in the district; Melvin Eisaman, general science, ninth in the district; and Jim Irwin, American history, 14th in the district.

Ashville's eighth grade won all the highest honors in the county in the state eighth year test given May 3 under the direction of the Ohio scholarship tests. The five highest scores in the county were made by Marilyn Bowers 184, Carolyn Courtwright 170, Charles Eversole 170, Louise Swingle 167, and Joanne Hinkle 166. Robert Schaub with 161 points and Herbert Pettibone with 160 ranked 10th and 11th in the county respectively. Thus Ashville had seven of the 11 highest scores. All of the above pupils will receive state certificates for placing in the upper 1% in the state, an honor shared by only four other county pupils. Besides the above pupils, the following placed in the upper 25% in the county and will receive county award certificates: Phyllis Pettibone, David Kraft, Ellen Hudson, William Grove, Faye Johnson, Doran Topolosky, Charles Harris, Dana Borror, Darrell Robbins, Robert Stough, Hattie Wheeler.

13 SENIORS AT MONROE SCHOOL GET DIPLOMAS

The program included the invocation by the Rev. F. A. Immelt, salutatory by Bill Neff, valedictory by Ray Anderson, and address by Mack Bauer.

REPRIMAND TOO MUCH
PENNS NECK, N. Y., May 15—A teacher's reprimand was blamed today for the suicide of 11-year-old Frank Miller. The youth's body was found hanging in the school cloakroom where his teacher had sent him for being rude in class.

and Gerald Hartley. The Ashville class median of 129 was the highest in the county. Other leading schools were Wayne township 113.5, Saltcreek township 107, Deercreek township 106, and Tilton 105. Only five local pupils were below the county median of 102; a record of which the members of the class and their parents may well feel proud.

The Ashville-Lockbourne Lutheran Brotherhood will meet Wednesday at 8:00 in the Lockbourne church. Members are urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Martin, of Indianapolis, Indiana, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brame, of Springfield, visited Tuesday with Ernest F. Martin and family.

Siebert Duvall began work Tuesday at Lockbourne Army Air Base where he is in charge of the control tower.

MINGLE WRONG SHERIFF SAYS

Radcliff Contends Peace Officers Do Not Need To Wear Uniforms

As spokesman for law-enforcement officers in Pickaway county, Sheriff Charles Radcliff disputed, Wednesday, the statement made by Colonel George Mingle, superintendent of the State Highway Patrol, that constables and other officers of the law must wear uniforms in order to make lawful arrests for traffic law violations.

The warning sounded by Col. Mingle, which was published Monday in The Daily Herald, cautioned all "undressed" constables and law-enforcement officers that they must get into uniform and also must have distinguishing color or markings placed on their automobiles.

Sheriff Radcliff likewise disputed Col. Mingle's statement that peace officers not in uniform cannot make arrests legally and that their testimony is not valid at a trial following such an arrest. Col. Mingle's statement also said that traffic arrests are unlawful when the officer's car is not properly marked. He authorized all peace officers to display an insignia on each side and the rear of the car. Law-enforcement officers do not have to wear a uniform to make a lawful arrest, Sheriff Radcliff declared, and it is not necessary for them to have distinguishing markings on their cars.

Col. Mingle's statement was based on Section 12616 of the General Code of Ohio and the statement specifically excepted—in reference to the car markings—"sheriffs and municipal police who may designate their own" (markings).

Sheriff Radcliff asserted that while Col. Mingle, as head of the State Highway Patrol, has authority to issue orders to that group, he is not authorized to issue instructions to other law-enforcement officials.

WAR REPORT

It is well known that "war is hell," but it may not be so generally realized that the situation existing since the actual fighting ended in Europe is hell in hardly less degree. Paul Bellamy, editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, who has just returned from a European tour of observation, makes a heart-breaking report.

He says it has been "a trip through hell," and his conclusion is that the tragic poet Dante, who wrote his tremendous "Inferno," should return to earth and rewrite his report. In modern vernacular, apparently, Dante "hadn't seen anything yet." Evidently Mr. Bellamy's fellow-observers agree with him. Here is the gist of his conclusions:

America is the only country committed to clean up the world at this time.

The most tragic chapter in human history, up to the start of the second world war, was when "we ran away" from the League of Nations' last time.

Our present army abroad is doing a fine job in an almost impossible situation, but is being dismantled too rapidly.

Germany cannot be handled properly under the present four-power arrangement—American, British, French and Russian—which invites conflicts.

The Germans as a whole are "entirely unrepentant", and merely sorry that they lost the war. There are many conflicts that need straightening out, and the active Nazis are "beyond redemption."

The food problem may be the most crucial of all. People "can live there, but not enjoy life; they can drag themselves about, but cannot work productively." From such a situation, naturally come, and long continue, evils of many kinds.

STRUTTING

If autocracy is the way to handle public affairs in this country, John L. Lewis, judged by his recent behavior, is the man for the job. He seems made to order for such a "putsch" as the Old World nations have made us familiar with. He has been bold and arbitrary to a degree seldom exhibited in America. And if our nation were not built upon a steadfast rock of patriotic individualism, there might be some fear for the perpetuity of our American system.

But the rock of our national faith stands as firm as Gibraltar or Plymouth. And it may be just as well to have a little banging about occasionally, if for no other reason than to give ourselves and the world new assurance of stability in a somewhat doubtful time. Here in free America is the base of our modern world, and here the greatest and freest of nations carries on steadfastly, regardless of how insolent and ambitious men may strut their little hour upon the American stage.

With Jack Gaver Along Broadway

NEW YORK, May 15—The new alignment of forces for the future battle of the ballet was completed today with the announcement that S. Hurok's Russian ballet company is the official name of the group which Impresario Sol Hurok is putting together since breaking off relations with ballet theater.

Ballet theater has been top dog in the dancing game for several seasons, being rated by the critics as considerably superior to the chief opposition, the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. It was Hurok who had managerial strings on the top stars of ballet theater and who was able to make available to it the town's outstanding auditorium for its annual Fall and Spring engagements, the Metropolitan Opera House.

Ballet theater still has several good dancers left and its well-trained corps de ballet or ensemble, an asset that is not easily come by overnight. It also has the rights to many of the newer and proven ballets, although that doesn't mean that Hurok's outfit will be short of material.

Hurok's hold on the Metropolitan Opera House is one of his biggest assets. It not only holds a tremendous number of people and is well equipped back stage to handle lots of scenery, but the public is accustomed to going there to see the best in ballet. It may be that ballet theater will stay on four next season after returning from a limited Summer engagement in London.

Back of the Headlines

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

THE world food famine and international politics have become twin problems.

The number one consideration in combating starvation is humanitarian. The peoples and governments of the western hemisphere in particular, where the main hope of meeting the shortage lies, are responding with growing vigor to the dire need of the larger part of the world's population.

There is another angle, however, which is not escaping the governments of the big powers, whether or not they are food producers. That is that world stability and a lasting peace will not be possible as long as more than half the world is underfed.

The American republics and parts of the British commonwealth are not the only ones who are taking a leading part in trying to remedy the situation. England itself, which is on short rations, is encouraging the empire countries to come to the rescue and is limiting home rations to a minimum to set an example.

Russia, although hard hit by the German invasion of her chief agricultural regions, is trying to make a contribution. France is doing the best she can with the limited output of her overseas possessions.

Back of it all is the realization that hunger leads to anarchy. The United States, Britain and Russia, who are the steering committee of the United Nations, know that there is no hope of political stability if the majority of the world's population is not eating regularly.

Germany, Italy, India and Greece are cases in point, to mention only a few. All the talk of "civilizing" the Germans and re-educating them from the poisonous Nazi doctrines will come to nothing if the Germans are starved. A German with an empty belly is not interested in re-education, or in any political system which does not promise better than mere subsistence.

The Germans, by ordinary standards of justice, should be last on the list, behind all the peoples they plundered during the war. Yet economists realize that Germany cannot be allowed to starve, creating an economic vacuum in the heart of Europe, which previously has been dependent on Germany for a stabilized economy.

It isn't a matter of shedding tears over the fate of the Germans. The hard fact is that all the European peoples from the Baltic to the Mediterranean have to be fed adequately or there will be an unbalanced, discontinued continent which will not be able to feed on peace treaties.

Italy is another example. The western powers recognize that the volatile Italians could swing to Communism or anarchy if they thought they would be sufficiently fed. Conversely, there is a section of the population which is muttering about the "good old days" of Mussolini and might be swayed by the budding "Neo-Fascist" movement.

Greece is in a delicate stage of development. The rightists appear to have the upper hand at present, but there is small prospect that they can restore the monarchy on a lasting basis unless economic conditions are improved. If the western powers fail, the door would be wide open to Communism or revolution.

3♥ Pass 3NT Dbl

It hadn't happened—as reported by a trustworthy player—you could hardly believe that anybody in the world would redouble in North's position with his kind of hand, after the bidding that had been done.

Julian S. Colyer, of Larchmont, N. Y., recounting the story, explained that it was very late in the session, and that North, while ordinarily a quite brilliant player, was an impetuous type who at times acted on snap judgment.

which he instantly thereafter regretted.

Sitting in the West, Mr. Colyer realized there was no occasion for hurry after South made his 2-No Trumps response to North's forcing bid. There was no earthly chance that North would pass, and so Mr. Colyer did. Then, when the 3-No Trumps reached him, he doubled just on the hope that some silly redouble, or a pass, might be made by North. He didn't expect any such thing. In fact, he expected North to bid over the double, as his own hand told him what type of holding North had. He himself was ready to cut in at spades over whatever North did, and perhaps lure a double of his own positive game. North at the moment apparently forgot he had forced South's No Trump bids.

Mr. Colyer was of course delighted by North's redouble, then ran 10 tricks, and East took the 11th. You figure out how many points that produced.

Gingivitis, What It Is and Some New Ideas in Treatment

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

BECAUSE the war made necessary careful physical examination of large numbers of men and women, it has revealed a number of hitherto unknown facts. As a result, we now know that certain disorders are much more frequent than was formerly supposed.

One of these, discovered in Canada to affect a large number of young men, is gingivitis or inflammation of the gums. Of 1448 apparently normal men examined, one-fifth were found to have gingivitis.

Swollen Gums
Often, the condition caused no symptoms. However, a large number of the patients had painful, swollen gums or bleeding of the gums.

Exactly what causes gingivitis is still a matter of some dispute. It has been stated that perhaps the condition is due to a lack of vitamin C or ascorbic acid. In gingivitis there is redness and swelling of the gums. Later on they may become thickened. These changes, it has been reported, may be overcome by giving ascorbic acid in large amounts.

Dr. W. J. Linghorne and his co-workers of Canada carried out some studies on a large group of men to determine the effect of various nutritive substances on the gingivitis. In the first studies which they made, they noted that giving large amounts of vitamins A and D, B-1 and B-2, and niacin, which is a part of the B-complex, as well as ascorbic acid, for a period of five months seemed to have little effect on the inflammation of the gums.

Large Doses
In their second and third studies, however, they noted that, when the gum inflammation was cleared up to the maximum degree by local treatment, the giving of a large amount of ascorbic acid was more successful in keeping the condition from recurring than was the giving of smaller amounts of ascorbic acid.

The local treatment which was carried out was to apply a paste made by mixing a liquid and powder into the pockets in the gums. The pack thus formed was retained in place for a period of about 48 hours, and then a second application was made, if necessary.

At the end of this period of treatment, the pack was removed. All the tartar was scraped from the teeth polished. Patients were then instructed to keep the teeth clean and to stimulate the gum tissue by the use of the toothbrush. It was found that if the diet was one that supplied a large amount of ascorbic acid, the gingivitis could be kept from recurring. There was no difference in the effect on the gum tissue whether the ascorbic acid was supplied in natural foods as for example, 4 ounces of orange juice, or was given in the form of tablets.

It would appear from this study that gingivitis or gum inflammation may be due in part at least to a vitamin C deficiency but in all cases, to overcome the condition, careful treatment by the dentist is necessary.

CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN

EVEN NEAL found time to complain over the wire—but gayly this time—that I'd stolen the spotlight from her again!

"But I forgive you because it could have been so much worse," she assured me magnanimously. "Imagine, if I'd married a murderer! And it could have happened to me so easily, angel! He really was my first choice. That's why I made poor Deane stay behind when I left for Boston. I'd planned on an evening alone with—the other one. To see—well—to SEE. Get me? Honestly, after all that's come to light about him since, I'm beginning to wonder if something's wrong with me. Deane laughs when I say that, but Deane's prejudiced. What do you think, Jane? Why did that blackmailing Lothario play Joseph to my Madam Potiphar that night?"

Neal, asking my opinion about her love life was so amusing, I couldn't help laughing. And all I could think of to say was: "He was trying to show respect to his future wife."

The suggestion made Neal shout with glee in return, and our long distance talk threatened to turn into a laughing contest until, as if by telepathy, we both hung up at the same moment.

Once I'd stopped laughing though, I started shuddering.

Knowing Neal, I was fully aware that she'd meant what she'd said: only his own inexplicable correctness, that evening in Boston, had saved her from marrying a murderer. And the consequences her step would have had for herself, and our whole family, really were too horrible to contemplate.

"Inexplicable" was the only word for Tonio, even after reading countless newspaper articles about him.

His name really was Valente. Arthur H. Valente, to be exact. But he wasn't a Brazilian at all. He'd been born in Marion, O., where his father had been, of all things a minister!

But, although it was more than doubtful that even the remotest blood relationship existed between Ohio Valente and the Brazilian coffee kings, young Arthur H. had cashed in on his name, by managing to get in touch with his Brazilian "relatives" after somehow wangling his way to Rio.

Apparently he'd had a way with him even then—about eight years ago. Anyway, a great friendship had sprung up between him and the real Tonio Valente—the only son, and only child of his parents—that led to his acceptance as a "cousin," and a joint trip of the two young men to Europe, a couple of years later.

There—in Trouville—tragedy had overtaken the heir of the Valente coffee millions: he'd been drowned while out sailing with a girl. And it had been Arthur H.'s sad duty to bring back the effects of his accidentally dead "cousin" to his mourning family. Or, rather, to his grief-stricken mother. The father had succumbed to a stroke on hearing of his son's death, and had been buried by the time he arrived.

If the older Valente had lived, things probably wouldn't have gone quite so smoothly for Arthur H. But the Senora Valente was a broken woman after her double loss—there was no daughter or son-in-law; the couple in the anaphor were merely guests—and clung to him when he suggested himself a "substitute son," and begged her to call him Tonio.

Also, there was no one to inquire very closely into the whereabouts of the personal possessions of the real Tonio. Such as his passport, various other important papers, and the not inconsiderable sum he'd recently drawn on his letter of credit. And so Tonio—I'm going on calling him that to simplify matters—sailed north a great deal richer than he'd gone south, supplied, if he wished to use either, with a new name and nationality besides. The latter coming in extremely handy for draft dodging when we entered the war.

The press wasn't sure about the time he'd begun his career in love and blackmail. But it must have been soon after his return. For he established himself in style at the Plaza right then and made semi-annual trips to Rio. Ostensibly to see his "mother," but really, I think, to dispose of the loot he'd wanted and the last six months. Plenty of loot! One paper said the police had found several safe deposit boxes, some of them in the name of Arthur H. Valente, full of money, negotiable securities and jewels.

It made me wonder to whom Neal's marvelous emerald had originally belonged, and if she'd handed it over to the police.

But the question uppermost in my mind, and that I asked Inspector Barry and Hunt first thing on our walk in the woods that Sunday, was: "How did you find out Tonio was our murderer?"

It apparently hit a tender spot in the inspector's case. Anyway, he looked sheepish as he nodded toward me and said: "Ask him. He put the finger on him right off when he read the notes I'd had Nolan take that day in your office, when the slick fraud had dragged Kennard back from Boston. You were there, so maybe you remember he said Kennard would confirm that the Ingalls woman had told him he—Valente—had come and gone, on an errand for your sister, before his arrival. But when you read the notes carefully, you noticed Kennard only had said Mrs. Ingalls had told him he'd come, and had not mentioned his going at all."

"And so Hunt concluded he'd still been there, and most likely was the man in Neal's room in whom you didn't believe," I finished for the inspector, with an admiring smile at Hunt.

Hunt smiled back and said: "Right." And the inspector defended himself: "All right, so I didn't believe there was a man, but I made inquiries about Valente just the same. And what a clean slate they produced! Seems everybody down in Brazil had forgotten young Valente had drowned and took our Valente for the real thing. At any rate, the reports about him from their consulate here and the authorities in Rio were so good, I didn't even have him shadowed until after the Woodfords murder. And then only because he'd overdone his 'innocence' act, on our way out to Elmpoint, by admitting Kennard had spoken to him about your advice of bribing Woodfords with caviar."

"It didn't help much anyway, did it?" Claire asked dryly. "He managed to kill poor Brenda just the same."

"You're right, and it's too bad," the inspector agreed. "But, don't forget, the Plaza has exits on three sides and, well, the man was a master of evasion. Know where he kept the makeup for his disguises? In a safe deposit box, along with a bunch of stolen jewels. And as to when or where he put it on: the men's rooms in some of our large hotels are so crowded a man can be gone practically invisible in 'em. Besides, there are the 10-cent cubbyholes in Grand Central. I'm not trying to excuse the man I'd assigned to trail him. I'm just saying, he had a tough job."

"Not half so tough as the nice grandpa trailing me," Hunt tried to give the conversation a lighter turn. "Why, he was marvelous. He never lost sight of me—or I of him."

I blinked at Inspector Barry. "You really suspected Hunt as much as that?" I asked incredulously.

"This time the inspector said 'Right!' a bit hoarsely. And Hunt asked, with an amused grin: 'Why wouldn't he? You did.'"

"Because he made me suspect you," I protested. "He said it was 'funny' you and Brenda were in Elmpoint the same night."

"And so it was," Hunt assured me seriously. "It was one of those things we call a coincidence for want of a better name. And not the only one either. By some odd chance everything in the case pointed to me—height, coloring, gray suits and hats. Only a nitwit would not have suspected me—a little. But, may I confess, Barry? After the way you publicly accused Kennard of Woodford's murder—two weeks ago today, wasn't it?—we thought we'd better make you suspect me a lot."

It sounded crazy. "Why?" I wanted to know.

"So you wouldn't be killed. We were afraid you would be, if you came to have suspicions of the real party and showed them as much as in Kennard's case," Hunt explained calmly. "By the way, did you realize you told Valente, on the same occasion, where the pearls were hidden?"

"Oh, no, I didn't. You did," I corrected him. "You started talking to Neal about the rose-colored cushion, and Neal asked if you meant the one in my room. But—to get back to the main road: I still think it was a mean trick, making me suspect you. And unnecessary, besides. I wouldn't have dreamed in a hundred years that Tonio—conventional, stodgy, law-abiding, filthy-rich Tonio—could be our murderer."

"Maybe not. But it was better to play safe, and you're only alive by the grace of God even so," the inspector told me gravely.
